The Gameboyzz Orchestra Project makes music from the sounds produced by handheld gaming devices, building original compositions out of the beeps and bops of GameBoy play. The six-piece Polish ensemble is a representative sample of the (drop-down, no doubt) menu for this four-day "festival of art and new technologies" at Akropolis, the Vítkov monument and other locales. Concerts, dance performances, interactive installations, "game art" and workshops explore biotechnology, the seeds of scientific unity and the art behind artificial languages.
